It is the responsibility of each Daniel Boone Conservation League (DBCL) member, as well as each of their escorted family members and/or guests, to know and obey these Facility Use & Safety Procedures (FU&SP).

Members are also strongly encouraged to ensure these rules and procedures are followed by other members, their families, and guests. Failure to abide by these rules and procedures will subject the member to sanctions, as determined by the DBCL Board of Directors.

All noted rules shall apply to general facility and range use. Any deviations to rules must have prior written approval of the DBCL Board of Directors – e.g. Matches and Leagues.

Note: Many DBCL leagues and/or matches are already pre-approved for rule deviations. These deviations are permitted due to monitoring of shooting by match/league staff.

* If you are unsure or unclear about any DBCL procedure or rule, please ASK! ****

GENERAL RANGE SAFETY RULES

1. If a “CEASE FIRE” command is given:

- immediately stop shooting
- unload the firearm, open the action, and insert a chamber flag
- set firearm down at shooting station with muzzle pointed down range
- move behind Red Line on 25/50yd, Handgun, 100/200yd and Aux ranges
- wait for any additional instructions.

All shooters MUST obey the Cease Fire command, regardless of who gives it. Anyone observing an unsafe situation can and should give the Cease Fire command.

The person calling “Cease Fire” is responsible for determining when it is safe to proceed down range and when it is safe to resume shooting. If a match is being conducted, then the designated Range Officer will give necessary commands.

TARGET CHANGES → it is not required to express or use “Cease Fire” command:

- Notify all shooters of intention to place/replace targets and/or go down range
- Allow shooters to make guns safe – ammo out, actions open, chamber flags in
- Once all guns are made safe, then turn on the Bell/Light warning system

Before going down range, the range bells and warning lights MUST be on and all shooters and observers must have followed the above “Cease Fire” conditions. Person turning on bell/lights is responsible for ensuring all persons going down range have returned and it’s safe to resume firing, with same person turning off bell/light.

No shooting or handling of any firearms is allowed when any person is down range.
No persons are to be in area between Red Line and Firing Line when bell/light is on.

After all shooters have returned from down range the line will not be called “open” until all persons at the range acknowledge that the range is safe. Only then can shooters return to their firing positions. Violators will be asked to leave the range.

3. Shooting on ranges is allowed only from the Firing Line.
(“Firing Line” is the front of shooting positions and along the line of center roof support posts)
